

The golden treasure

Once upon a time there were three boys Adrian, Robin and Rodrigues. One day they went to school to study history. Their history teacher showed them a map. On this map there was a cross which indicated where a treasure was. They decided to go and look for the treasure.

They started to look in a cave. On the map you could see where the treasure was. But they did not find the treasure. They decided to get three shovels in Rodrigues's garage. And they went back to the cave in order to dig a big hole in the place where they were certain to find the treasure.

Suddenly they saw the chest but in the chest there was another little map. They looked at the map. They had to go in a forest. In the forest they met a man who indicated them the way which could lead them to the treasure. They noticed the way was leading to their middle school.

They went back to the middle school and told their history teacher and the headteacher everything they knew about the treasure. They asked the history teacher and the headteacher if they could dig in the playground. The headteacher was a cool guy and said he was ok because he believed in them and they had shown him the map. They dug and dug. And suddenly they found the chest filled with gold. WOOOW !!! They were all happy and they shared the treasure with the history teacher and the headteacher. They became very rich and lived happily ever after.
